Questions and Answers

Questions and Answers on the Health (National Cervical Screening Programme) Act are available now on the NCSP website – www.healthywomen.org.nz – by clicking the news button.

Fact sheets

Other fact sheets, written for women, media and smear takers, include:

1. About the National Cervical Screening Programme
2. Purposes of the Health (National Cervical Screening Programme) Amendment Act 2004
3. Enrolment in the National Cervical Screening Programme
4. Benefits of the National Cervical Screening Programme
5. Evaluation to ensure quality for women
6. The NCSP-Register.

Screening Matters newsletter

This is the newsletter of the National Screening Unit in the Ministry of Health, which manages the National Cervical Screening Programme.

Two special editions of Screening Matters, which focussed on the new Act, were published in November 2004 and February 2005. Copies are available from the National Screening Unit.

Ordering resources

Women and smear takers can order printed resources through 25 authorised providers based in regional public health services run by DHBs.

Electronic resources

The updated printed information above will also be available from February on the National Screening Unit website – www.healthywomen.org.nz. Some authorised providers of NCSP resources have mobile touch screen computer kiosks of screening information that they bring to community events. These will also be updated early in 2005 to include information about the Act.
